

Decorate your own shell

Engraved seashells were popular in the Victorian era. They were highly decorated with very detailed drawings. Some showed mythical creatures, while others celebrated important events.

This nautilus shell shows two of Brunel's ships alongside lots of information about how they were built and launched.

What would you put on a shell?

Decorate the nautilus shell template on the next page or draw your own.

